Hilo Roman
Catholic Community
Mission Statement

We, the Hilo Roman Catholic Community of St. Joseph and Malia Puka O Kalani, guided by the Holy Spirit, Our Blessed Mother and Saint Joseph, gather as a family of believers in the celebration of the Eucharist. Blessed with many cultures, talents and inspired by the Hawaiian tradition of Aloha, we pledge to share our heritage, our gifts and the principles of our faith, and to commit ourselves to the educational, social and spiritual needs of all our brothers and sisters.

LITURGY OF THE EUCHARIST

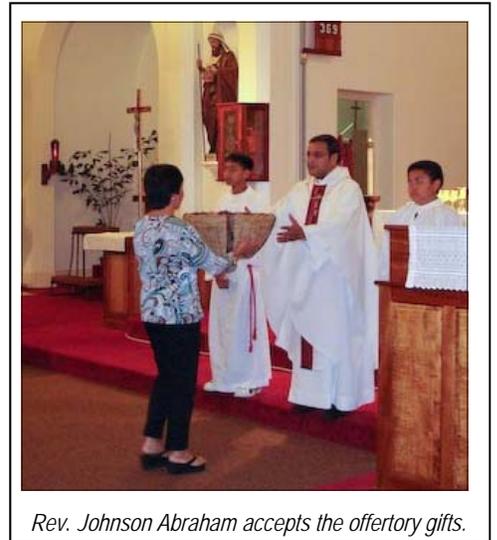

Read GIRM #72-79; 139-158; 178-181; 190-191; 214-236; 265-268 ITOOM #99-124

Collections

The GIRM #73 says: "It is well also that money or other gifts for the poor or for the Church, brought by the faithful and collected in the church, should be received. These are to be put in a suitable place but away from the Eucharistic table."

Sufficient ministers and equipment should be available to expedite the collection(s).

In light of #73, it is most appropriate that a second collection (for the poor or for the Church), when scheduled, should follow immediately after the first collection (for the support of the parish). The purpose of the second collection may be briefly announced at the very beginning of the Preparation of Gifts, but no other announcements should be made at this time.

Rev. Johnson Abraham accepts the offertory gifts.

If, for a serious reason, the second collection is more suitable taken toward the end of the Mass, it should only be taken during the Concluding Rites, which begin AFTER the Prayer after Communion. The second collection should NEVER replace or distract from the time of reverent silence/thanksgiving after Holy Communion.

[Note: Provision should be made for the collection to be handled as little as possible, once it is taken, and always in the presence of two unrelated people. It is highly suggested that, once the priest celebrant has received the offering, that it be taken immediately to a locked drop safe and left there until two unrelated people can take it to the counting place after Mass. While this is not, strictly speaking, a liturgical matter, the manner of presentation of the collection and where it is placed

Pentecost Sunday Year A, B, C

Readings: Acts 2:1-11; 1 Cor. 12:3b-7,12-13; John 20:19-23

First Reading: Acts 2:1-11

In this passage, Luke describes the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the gathered disciples on the day of Pentecost, fifty days after the Passover. The Holy Spirit is the source of their mission of witness to the resurrection and lordship of Jesus, which characterizes the entire life of the Church. The graphic and symbolic details of the event underline the power of the Spirit compelling the disciples to go forth and preach the Good News to all people. The event also symbolizes the universal effect of their mission.

Responsorial Psalm: Psalm 104:1, 24, 29-30, 31, 34

These verses in Psalm 104 praise God for his eternal deeds, and thus foreshadow the new creation in the Spirit. Response: "Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth."

Second Reading: 1 Corinthians 12:3b-7, 12-13

Paul in this passage uses the analogy of the body to remind us that the Spirit gives a diversity of gifts to members of the Church. This diversity of gifts is a great source of joy and growth for the Christian community. Unfortunately that diversity may also lead some to view others' gifts with suspicion and as a threat to our own, rather than a gift to be welcomed.

Gospel: John 20:19-23

In this Gospel, Jesus gives the promised gift of the Holy Spirit in the evening of the day of the resurrection. The passage shows us clearly that the Spirit is the fulfillment of the presence of the Risen Lord in his followers. The Spirit is to continue Jesus' mission of reconciliation. The central message of that mission is not just preaching, but living what one preaches in a spirit of forgiveness and reconciliation.

May Crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary statue at St. Joseph Church.

Crowning a statue of the Lord's Mother is symbolic of the honor we give her as the one chosen by God to bear His Son, our Salvation.

After the May crowning Fr. John Mbinda incenses the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

do have implications for the flow of the liturgy. This matter should be carefully planned by each parish, to safe-guard the collection, to protect the reputation of anyone handling the collection, and to be good stewards of the money collected for the Lord's work.

Preparation of the Altar

During the Preparation of the Gifts (during the collection) the altar is prepared. The corporal is placed on the altar at this time, not before. If more than one corporal (or, alternatively, one very large corporal) is needed for the vessels to be consecrated on the altar, they should be placed on the altar at this point.

Hosts sufficient for the Communion of the entire assembly should be brought forward, preferably in a single container. The reserved Sacrament in the Tabernacle should NOT NORMALLY be used.

[Note: With planning—e.g. using a measuring container in the sacristy that indicates the normal amount of hosts to be used for each Mass—the norm of using only hosts consecrated at the Mass being celebrated should be quite possible. Since the Sunday (and Vigil of Sunday) Mass is the high point of the week, and if there is a need to overestimate, then perhaps the remaining hosts in the tabernacle could be used for weekday Masses, with only one large host being consecrated on weekdays. Hosts from the tabernacle may be used at Sunday Masses, especially if there is an overabundance, but the practice of not using hosts from the tabernacle should be the norm and not the exception. All who minister Holy Communion should be informed of this norm and be aware of its rare exceptions.]

Only unleavened HOSTS and pure fermented wine should be used in the celebration of the Eucharist.

[Note: Any exceptions to this must be with the explicit permission of the Bishop. Consult the Office of Worship for possible exceptions. For priests who are recovering alcoholics and for whom the use of wine would be a problem, permission must be sought from the Bishop for the use of mustum, FOR THE PRIEST CELEBRANT ONLY. For persons with an allergy to gluten, consult the Office of Worship for the availability of low gluten hosts, which may ONLY be used for those with such allergies. The Office of Worship should be consulted for suggestions about how to handle requests for special circumstances.]

If Holy Communion under the form of wine is to be available to all the communicants, sufficient wine should be prepared in a carafe to be presented by members of the assembly during the preparation of gifts. However, sufficient chalices for communicating all should be placed ON the altar, then filled BEFORE they are consecrated. Alternatively, filled chalices could be brought over from the credence table, and a cruet of wine, or the main chalice for the celebration filled with wine, could be brought forward for the presentation of gifts. Auxiliary chalices should be placed on a corporal, but arranged in such a way that emphasis is given to the one container of bread and the main chalice for the celebration. If palls are needed to keep insects out, there should be sufficient palls for all the chalices. The auxiliary palls need not be taken off during the consecration. Or one may want to design one large pall that could fit over all the auxiliary chalices. (Wooden coasters that fit over the cups might also be considered as an alternative to palls.)

The Lavabo should not be omitted. It is a purification rite for the priest celebrant only. Note that it is a washing of HANDS, not of fingertips, so the lavabo bowl and towel should be able to accommodate the washing of HANDS.

Note: Private prayers designated to be prayed in a low voice should not be heard by the assembly.

The assembly should stand after the Lavabo and before the invitation "Pray, brothers and sisters, that our sacrifice..." If this is not the custom, they will need a simple reminder for a few weeks. Once they have adopted the routine, it is not necessary to direct them to stand.

Celebrating the Liturgy of the Eucharist at St. Joseph Church Rev. Johnson Abraham.

The Eucharistic Prayer

The Eucharistic Prayer is prayed by the priest celebrant, with concelebrating priests possibly taking designated parts of it.

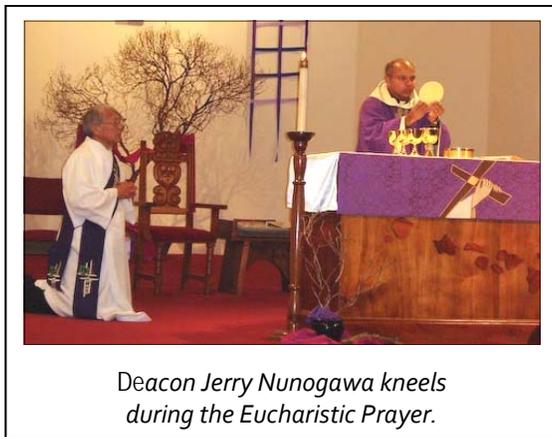

Eye contact of the priest with the assembly is appropriate only during the Preface Dialogue. Otherwise, the Eucharistic prayer is directed to God the Father and not to the assembly. The priest's posture and eye position should indicate, as much as possible, the transcendent nature of this prayer.

After the Preface, the priest should fully participate in the Holy, Holy, since it is an integral part of the prayer. He should not consider it "down time" to turn the pages of the missal or to rearrange the vessels on the altar. There will be ample time to turn the page while the people are kneeling after the Holy, Holy.

Since it is important that the assembly hear the entire prayer, the priest should not resume the Eucharistic Prayer after the Holy, Holy until the rumble of people kneeling has died down and the assembly is ready to participate by listening.

The Eucharistic Prayer should be prayed with deliberation and great devotion, never simply read rapidly.

The deacon should kneel (unless prevented for a just cause from doing so) from after the epiclesis (when the priest extends both hands, palms down, over the bread and wine), until the priest says, "Let us proclaim the mystery of faith."

Deacon Jerry Nunogawa kneels during the Eucharistic Prayer.

At the doxology that concludes the Eucharistic Prayer, the priest holds up the Body of Christ, and the deacon holds up the chalice. If there is no deacon, the priest holds up both. If there is no deacon, but there are concelebrants, one of them MAY hold up the chalice, but only one. (It is not advisable to give everyone near the altar a vessel to hold up.)

MEMORARE

Remember, O most gracious Virgin Mary, that never was it known that anyone who fled to thy protection, implored thy help, or sought thine intercession was left unaided.

*Inspired by this confidence, I fly unto thee,
O Virgin of virgins, my mother,
to thee do I come, before thee I stand,
sinful and sorrowful.*

O Mother of the Word Incarnate, despise not my petitions, but in thy mercy hear and answer me, Amen.
