WELCOME SR. LUSIKA SANGMA

In the name of the Hilo Roman Catholic Community I am happy to extend a warm welcome to Sr. Lusika. She is joining the St. Joseph Convent community. She will be helping with faith formation ministry and in a particular way involved in the Religious Education program. Her experience in the field of youth work and communications would be useful to us in our parish ministry. She hails from Meghalaya State in India and her mother tongue is Garo. She has completed a degree in Masters in Sociology (MA Sociology) and Post Graduation in Social Communications (Manila). She was involved in the Media and Communications of the Congregation and the Region of N.E. India. She was also a youth animator in the Don Bosco Youth and Educational Services. She has also undergone a course in Liturgy. We wish her a pleasant stay at Hilo and a lot of fulfillment in her apostolic work here.

Readings: Deuteronomy 18:15-20; 1 Cor. 7:32-35; Mark 1:21-28

First Reading: Deuteronomy 18:15-20

In this passage, Moses predicts that after a long succession of prophets in Israel, God would send one final prophet. That prophet would speak with authority, for “he shall tell them all that I command him.” In other words, the prophet would have the power to proclaim God’s will in a way that would bring about the deeds that the words signify. Thus Jesus is the fulfillment of the true meaning of prophet.

Responsorial Psalm: Psalm 95:1-2, 6-7, 7-9

Psalm 95 is both a call to worship as well as a warning against neglect of the word of God. God’s voice spoken through the prophets, through his Son and through his Church, has no power unless it is freely received, heard and understood, taken to heart and acted upon. Therefore we must pray that we will hear God’s voice when he speaks. Response: "If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts."

Second Reading: 1 Corinthians 7:32-35

Paul’s purpose in the Second Reading is not to advise whether or not to marry. He was obviously unmarried himself. As a traveling missionary, Paul had no fixed home, and so marriage and family would have been impossible. However he regarded marriage very highly, calling it a sign of the union between Christ and his Church (see Eph 5:21-33). Here Paul holds up an ideal of detachment from the things and ways of the world, using virginity as a sign of this detachment. No matter what our state in life, the important thing is to keep our eyes firmly fixed on what is beyond, and not let ourselves become helplessly entangled in the passing concerns of this world.

Gospel: Mark 1:21-28

This passage from Mark contains a nutshell summary of the whole mission of Jesus who comes to free humankind from enslavement to the forces of evil. Jesus does this by the power of his word which is effective and authoritative. The exorcism that Jesus performs serves two purposes: 1) as an illustration of Jesus’ teaching with authority; and 2) to show that without Jesus Christ all humanity is in the grip of the power of evil. This first miracle of Jesus also serves as introduction to who Jesus is and the nature of his ministry. Those who hear his word experience his power. His teaching cannot be separated from his person. He is what he teaches.

Engaged Encounter Weekend in Hilo

The Engaged Encounter Weekend will be at St. Joseph High School in the library on February 6-8th. Engaged Encounter is a weekend retreat to prepare couples to marry in the Catholic Church and is part of the Diocesan marriage guidelines. Please pray for the couples as they learn more about another important sacrament in the Church. Thank you. Submitted by: Fred Basilio

Hilo Roman Catholic Community Mission Statement:

We, the Hilo Roman Catholic Community of St. Joseph and Malia Puka O Kalani, guided by the Holy Spirit, Our Blessed Mother and Saint Joseph, gather as a family of believers in the celebration of the Eucharist. Blessed with many cultures, talents and inspired by the Hawaiian tradition of Aloha, we pledge to share our heritage, our gifts and the principles of our faith, and to commit ourselves to the educational, social and spiritual needs of all our brothers and sisters.

March For Life In Hilo

Sponsored by Hawaii Right To Life - Hilo

St. Joseph parishioners joined other pro-life supporters to pray at the MARCH FOR LIFE on Kilauea & Aupuni St. (new court house) Thursday, January 22, 2009. This collective effort of grassroots pro-life Americans is to assure that our laws protect the right to life of each human being.

An Interview with Fr. Marc Alexander

As he bustled around our office on Friday, January 16, 2009, I was able to catch Fr. Marc Alexander for a quick interview. He is such an honored guest when he visits our parish but he is the most difficult person to get an interview from. I managed to sit down with Fr. Marc for a few questions with the help of Fr. Thomas.

Thank you so much for sitting down with me Fr. Marc. I appreciate your visit. First, can you tell me what does the Vicar General of a diocese do? How are they appointed? What are they responsible for within the diocese?

Fr. Marc: Hi, Chrislyn. The Vicar General is the number two person in diocesan administration, like a VP or COO. The VG represents the Bishop in all matters except those reserved only for the Bishop. The Bishop appoints the VG who serves at the pleasure of the Bishop. There is no term of office – I simply serve as long as the Bishop wants me to serve. Only a priest or bishop can be VG.

Cool, Fr. Marc, how did you know you wanted to be a priest?

Fr. Marc: I was born in Japan and moved to Hawaii. My parents are both converts. My mother was Shinto and my father was Jewish. Along with my sister, we were all baptized Catholic as a family. This had a huge impact on my choice to become a priest. I grew up comfortably and wanted to make a difference and I wanted to serve the church. My family's faith taught me many values and while I was in the sixth grade, I knew then I wanted to become a priest. The idea to become a priest remained with me as I finished high school and from then I joined a seminary college in North Virginia.

Finally, Fr. Marc, what do you think is the biggest challenge facing the Church today?

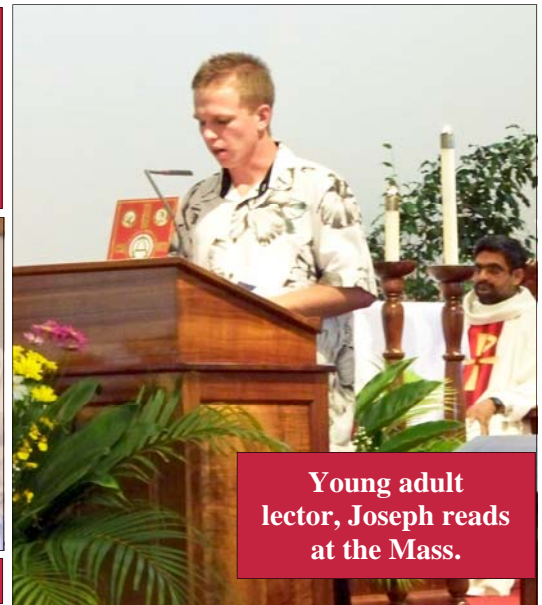

Fr. Marc: Referring to our Diocesan Road Map Strategic Plan, I think leadership is the biggest challenge facing our church. I know that there are not as many priests in our diocese as we need; however, there has been increasing numbers of lay ministers who have taken on some of the ministries' responsibilities. We as a diocese need to insure that our lay leaders are trained, confident in their leadership positions and supported in their ministries.

Social Ministry/Outreach

The most important function of the church can be classified into three categories:

- Proclaiming the Word of God (Kerygma-martyria)
- Celebrating the Sacraments (Leitourgia)
- Exercising the ministry of Charity (Diakonia)

The purpose of Social Ministry is to live out the Characteristics of the church by carrying out all types of charitable works in all the ways we can. Our Parish has been so generous and kind to make this charitable work go smoothly.

Our Parish Social Ministry right now is focusing on:

- Food Pantry
- Bereavement Ministry
- Special Needs

These focuses are carried out wonderfully with some very dedicated persons. Still it has lots of scope for extension as the need is felt more than ever.

I believe that our Social Ministry will flourish if we work together continuously with love for God and his people, because these good deeds are the mark of our faith in God.

Your help, contributions, ideas and views would be most appreciated to make this work more meaningful.
Thank You.

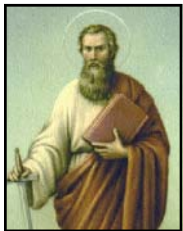

Eucharistic Adoration:

The Eucharist is the focal point of the Catholic faith because it is Jesus present with us here on the earth today. Jesus prolongs His presence on earth and most completely fulfills His words: "Behold I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world." (Mt. 28:20)

Pope Paul VI said that Eucharistic adoration cultivates in the soul a 'social' love by which the common good is given preference over the good of the individual. Pope John Paul II, in a letter commemorating the 750th anniversary of the first celebration of the feast of Corpus Christi, said, "through adoration the Christian mysteriously contributes to the radical transformation of the world." This is a powerful statement that affirms the awesome power of Eucharistic adoration, the power that will transform our "culture of death" into a culture of life.

Prayerfully consider coming to Eucharistic Adoration on the first Friday of every month immediately after the 12:15 pm Mass until 5:00 pm Holy Hour. For information contact Deborah Callahan at 934-9286.

Paul the Missionary

Each of us possesses a missionary calling that goes with priestly ordination

Most frequently, the figure of St. Paul evinces reflection upon his great theological contribution to the Christian faith. Scarcely a major teaching of the Church does not have some foundation in the letters of Paul. As important as this perspective is, there is much more to be learned from Paul than theology.

The goal of this article is to study Paul from the perspective of his activity and thought as a missionary. There is much to be learned both theologically and pastorally about his missionary activity. We begin with a brief note on method.

The Acts of the Apostles

There are only two principal sources for the life and ministry of Paul, the Acts of the Apostles and his own letters preserved in the New Testament. Both have information on the topic at hand, but a caution is in order. When it comes to Acts, although it contains considerable historical reflection, we must remember that the author had his own theological interests, which at times led him to give emphases to certain events that might not reflect "the way things were."

Clearly, when it comes to the portrait of Paul, Acts highlights his activity as a missionary. This basic orientation coincides well with Paul's own self-understanding and his mission as it comes across in his letters. So we will use both sources for our analysis but keep an eye out for Lucan special interests.

Paul: Missionary Par Excellence

In the New Testament, Paul is clearly the missionary par excellence. Even Acts, which concentrates primarily on Peter and Paul and supplements with some other missionary figures like Philip, Barnabas and Silas, makes Paul the main hero in terms of mission. His exploits cover more than half the book, and it is from Acts that we get the notion of three missionary journeys.

In order to get at the essentials of Paul's mission, I will focus on six aspects of Paul's ministry, covering both his thought on mission and his actual activity:

- 1) The Call of a Missionary;
- 2) Universality;
- 3) Founding and Sustaining Faith Communities;
- 4) The Content, Jesus Christ;
- 5) Hope in the Face of Suffering;
- 6) Adaptability.

The Call of a Missionary

The first thing one notices about Paul as a missionary is that it is not a job. Paul is proud of being an "apostle," someone sent on a mission, even though he was not one of the Twelve. Mission activity for Paul is not an occupation. It is a ministry, a sacred task given by the risen Lord Jesus himself to extend the Gospel message to the Gentiles.

As a missionary, Paul thus had to accept the call he received. Both Acts and Paul's letters indicate that this was not what Paul was expecting. God called him to the mission in a fashion that dramatically turned his life around, but Paul freely embraced it with the same fervent enthusiasm with which he had earlier persecuted the Church.

Catholic School Week Mass

The Saint Joseph School ‘ohana gathered on Monday to celebrate a Eucharistic Liturgy that brought together three major themes:

- First, the conversion of the great apostle St. Paul from a person who persecuted the early Christians to one of the greatest missionaries, preachers and writers in Christian history.
- Second, Catholic Schools Week in union with Catholic schools across our country – highlighting the service performed by thousands of students and parents; faculty and staff members; parishioners, friends and alumni; and community volunteers in imitation of Jesus’ life of loving service. The school gym had been transformed into a beautifully decorated worship space. Posters with student, faculty and staff hands represented an individual and collective commitment to service to God, neighbor and all creation.
- And third, Homecoming – a reminder that St. Joseph School is a combination of educational institution and a home away from home in which persons relate with each other as family, as ‘ohana.

Homecoming traditionally welcomes graduates and former students, families and employees back to the campus. During the liturgy, the assembly prayed for all St. Joseph students, families, faculty and staff past, present and to come; for all the alumni and other benefactors who have so generously contributed to Catholic education on Hawai‘i Island for 140 years; and in a special way for all the parishioners of St. Joseph and Malia churches who received yellow postcards of appreciation with whom the students now have a bond as prayer partners. St. Joseph School asks parishioners to continue to pray for the students who signed their postcard and for the school’s continued ministry to the youth of our island.

SJS students passed out cards of gratitude to parishioners following Mass on January 25. Each card had a few personal thoughts about their school. For those who might not have received a card we thought it would be nice to share a few of the written responses below.

We the students of St. Joseph School, say Mahalo to our St. Joseph priests and parishioners for 140 years of spiritual guidance, leadership, service, and moral and financial support. We are grateful to receive a Catholic school education. God bless you always

Grade 1:
St. Joseph School is terrific!
—Christian

Grade 5: I like going to St. Joseph because I get to learn about many subjects that I need for the future. For example I learned that we broke away from England in the Revolutionary War. Since I go to a Catholic school I can pray freely.
—BriAna

Grade 5: I like going to St. Joseph School because I learn math, science, reading, social studies and more. In math I learned how to make a factor tree. In science I learned about electricity. My favorite class is Social Studies. In Social Studies we learned about Slavery in the South. The teachers are really nice. They help me work hard and make me do my best.—Maya

Grade 6: St. Joseph School is special to me because it brought me to a safer place than my old school. —Tad

Grade 10: Thank you for my wonderful education. —Katie

Grade 11: Thanks for supporting us for over 140 years. We appreciate it very much. —Catelyn

Prayer for the Canonization
 of the Servant of God,
 Blessed Mother Marianne Cope:

Lord Jesus, You gave us Your commandment of love of God and of neighbor, and identified Yourself in a special way with the most needy of Your people; hear our prayer.

Faithful to Your teaching, Mother Marianne Cope loved and served her neighbor, especially the most desolate outcast, giving herself generously and heroically for the victims of leprosy. She alleviated their physical and spiritual sufferings, thus helping them to accept their afflictions with resignation, as a pledge of God's love and their eternal happiness.

Through her merits and intercession, grant us the favor which we confidently ask of You (mention request) so that she may be raised to the altars of the Church, and that the People of God, following the inspiration of her life and apostolate, may practice fraternal charity, according to Your word and example. Amen.
