Prayer for the Week

*A prayer from Zimbabwe
Timothy Radcliff, ed.*

We have been given

Eyes To see and ears to listen

Tongues To speak for the innocent....and the guilty

To praise, encourage and support

To proclaim, in season and out, the news that is good news...

Hands To reach out and to strengthen the fearful

To protect the weak and lift up the fallen

To embrace the dying

To share burdens and wipe away tears...

To build up, not tear down,

To fan the embers, not quench the smoldering wick

To bless, not strike

To give, not to withhold...

Minds To judge.....ourselves, not others

Situations, not motives

To seek solutions, not excuses

Justice, not expediency

To discern the essential from the merely desirable

The good from the less good and the less good from the bad...

Hearts To feel

To interpret the hidden meaning beneath the words spoken

To open doors closed by despair

To discover the best in others and set it free

To understand and forgive....or simply to forgive

To comfort the sorrowful

To love and thereby heal scars...

All these things God has given us that people around us

May neither doubt nor forget his presence among them

That in our touch, our words, our actions

He may touch and speak and act

And they, in turn, may sense his presence

When we pass by and, seeing us, know with little effort

That they catch a glimpse of God.

Dear Parishioners,

Peace in the Lord Jesus!

I have received a letter from Sharon Chiarucci of the Office for Parish Resources informing us of the Bishop's Episcopal Visitation here at St. Joseph Church this January 16-17, 2010. He is also scheduled to visit Malia Puka O Kalani Church on the weekend of January 30-31, 2010.

In view of this we are to evaluate our parish life in the following five areas:

Community and Evangelization

Worship

Formation in the Word of God

Social Ministry (Service)

Parish Leadership

The purpose of this parish self-study is for us to celebrate the strengths of our parish and to address the areas that call for our personal and communal growth in our response to our mission. I need your full support and prayers as we go through this process. In Jesus, our Bread of Life,

Fr. Samuel E. Loterte, SSS Pastor

Sunday Reflection:

by Father Greg Friedman, O.F.M.

September 6, 2009 : 23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

Is 35:4-7 ; Ps 146:7, 8-9, 9-10; Jas 2, 1-5; Mk 7:31-37

In the musical, Man of LaMancha, Don Quixote sings about his quest for “the impossible dream. That song became a hit, in part, I believe, because all of us have some kind of dream, some vision of a hope-filled future that keeps us going. Christians believe that Jesus Christ fulfills humanity’s dreams of a world at peace, in harmony, with all of our human imperfections made whole.

Today’s first reading is an Old Testament prophecy of such a dream coming true. Isaiah has a vision of a time when those who cannot hear or cannot see will be given hearing and sight; and when the lifeless deserts will become fertile.

Mark, the author of today’s Gospel, believed that Jesus would fulfill that Isaian vision. He incorporated some of Isaiah’s visionary language into his account of Jesus giving the powers of hearing and speech to a man.

That scene is portrayed in great detail by Mark, with Jesus using gestures, groans, and even spitting-as he carries out this power-filled sign.

For me, the scene captures both Jesus’ humanity and divinity. And it communicates what Mark and his community of faith are witnessing to in this Gospel: That Jesus is the one who will fulfill all our dreams for healing, wholeness, and peace. What are you hoping for this week?

FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions on Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament

QUESTION: What is the social aspect of Eucharistic adoration?

ANSWERS: “Devotion to the divine Eucharist exerts a great influence upon the soul in the direction of fostering a ‘social’ love, in which we put the common good ahead of private good, take up the cause of the community, the parish, the universal Church, and extend our charity to the whole world because we know that there are members of Christ everywhere.....This zeal at prayer and at devoting oneself to God for the sake of the unity of the Church is something that religious, both men and women, should regard as very specially their own since they are bound in a special way, by virtue of the vows they have pronounced, become a kind of crown set around it here on earth.”

Hilo Roman Catholic Community Mission Statement

We, the Hilo Roman Catholic Community of St. Joseph and Malia Puka O Kalani, guided by the Holy Spirit, Our Blessed Mother, and Saint Joseph, gather as a family of believers in the celebration of the Eucharist. Blessed with many cultures, talents, and inspired by the Hawaiian tradition of Aloha, we pledge to share our heritage, our gifts, and the principles of our faith, and to commit ourselves to the educational, social, and spiritual needs of all our brothers and sisters.

St. Gregory the Great (540?-604)

Early Church Father and Doctor of the Church

Coming events cast their shadows before: Gregory was the prefect of Rome before he was 30. After five years in office he resigned, founded six monasteries on his Sicilian estate and became a Benedictine monk in his own home at Rome.

Ordained a priest, he became one of the pope's seven deacons, and also served six years in the East as papal nuncio in Constantinople. He was recalled to become abbot, and at the age of 50 was elected pope by the clergy and people of Rome.

He was direct and firm. He removed unworthy priests from office, forbade taking money for many services, emptied the papal treasury to ransom prisoners of the Lombards and to care for persecuted Jews and the victims of plague and famine. He was very concerned about the conversion of England, sending 40 monks from his own monastery. He is known for his reform of the liturgy, for strengthening respect for doctrine. Whether he was largely responsible for the revision of "Gregorian" chant is disputed.

Gregory lived in a time of perpetual strife with invading Lombards and difficult relations with the East. When Rome itself was under attack, it was he who went to interview the Lombard king.

An Anglican historian has written: "It is impossible to conceive what would have been the confusion, the lawlessness, the chaotic state of the Middle Ages without the medieval papacy; and of the medieval papacy, the real father is Gregory the Great."

"Think over, my beloved brothers, think over his words: Pray the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest.

Pray for us so that we may be able to labor worthily on your behalf, that our tongue may not grow weary of exhortation, that after we have taken up the office of preaching our silence may not bring us condemnation from the just judge." - St. Gregory the Great

His book, Pastoral Care, on the duties and qualities of a bishop, was read for centuries after his death. He described bishops mainly as physicians whose main duties were preaching and the enforcement of discipline. In his own down-to-earth preaching, Gregory was skilled at applying the daily gospel to the needs of his listeners. Called "the Great," Gregory has been given a place with Augustine, Ambrose and Jerome as one of the four key doctors of the Western Church.

Father, you guide your people with kindness and govern us with love. By the prayers of Saint Gregory give the spirit of wisdom to those you have called to lead your Church. May the growth of your people in holiness be the eternal joy of our shepherds. We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen

This entry appears in the print edition of Saint of the Day AmericanCatholic.org

QUESTION: "I'm concerned what my friends and family might think or how they will react if I tell them I'm interested in the priesthood."

ANSWER: Being concerned about your family and friends is a valid concern. More often than not, however, it is those who are closest to us who see the signs of priesthood within us and are not surprised by our interests. I would suggest that in thinking of priesthood you do not have to tell your entire family or friends at first. But rather, you can begin to share your thoughts about the Church, priests, or the Eucharist. In this way, you can begin to grow stronger in your thoughts as you share them with others. Those who love you may not totally understand but they will support you in your good desires.

Blessed Mother Teresa of Calcutta

(1910-1997)

Mother Teresa of Calcutta, the tiny woman recognized throughout the world for her work among the poorest of the poor, was beatified October 19, 2003. Among those present were hundreds of Missionaries of Charity, the Order she founded in 1950 as a diocesan religious community. Today the congregation also includes contemplative sisters and brothers and an order of priests.

Born to Albanian parents in what is now Skopje, Macedonia (then part of the Ottoman Empire), Gonxha (Agnes) Bojaxhiu was the youngest of the three children who survived. For a time, the family lived comfortably, and her father's construction business thrived. But life changed overnight following his unexpected death.

During her years in public school Agnes participated in a Catholic sodality and showed a strong interest in the foreign missions. At age 18 she entered the Loreto Sisters of Dublin. It was 1928 when she said goodbye to her mother for the final time and made her way to a new land and a new life. The following year she was sent to the Loreto novitiate in Darjeeling, India. There she chose the name Teresa and prepared for a life of service. She was assigned to a high school for girls in Calcutta, where she taught history and geography to the daughters of the wealthy. But she could not escape the realities around her—the poverty, the suffering, the overwhelming numbers of destitute people.

In 1946, while riding a train to Darjeeling to make a retreat, Sister Teresa heard what she later explained as “a call within a call. The message was clear. I was to leave the convent and help the poor while living among them.” She also heard a call to give up her life with the Sisters of Loreto and, instead, to “follow Christ into the slums to serve him among the poorest of the poor.”

After receiving permission to leave Loreto, establish a new religious community and undertake her new work, she took a nursing course for several months. She returned to Calcutta, where she lived in the slums and opened a school for poor children. Dressed in a white sari and sandals (the ordinary dress of an Indian woman) she soon began getting to know her neighbors—especially the poor and sick—and getting to know their needs through visits.

The work was exhausting, but she was not alone for long. Volunteers who came to join her in the work, some of them former students, became the core of the Missionaries of Charity. Other helped by donating food, clothing, supplies, the use of buildings. In 1952 the city of Calcutta gave Mother Teresa a former hostel, which became a home for the dying and the destitute. As the Order expanded, services were also offered to orphans, abandoned children, alcoholics, the aging and street people.

For the next four decades Mother Teresa worked tirelessly on behalf of the poor. Her love knew no bounds. Nor did her energy, as she crisscrossed the globe pleading for support and inviting others to see the face of Jesus in the poorest of the poor. In 1979 she was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. On September 5, 1997, God called her home.

Comment:

Mother Teresa's beatification, just over six years after her death, was part of an expedited process put into effect by Pope John Paul II. Like so many others around the world, he found her love for the Eucharist, for prayer and for the poor a model for all to emulate.

Quote:

Speaking in a strained, weary voice at the beatification Mass, Pope John Paul II declared her blessed, prompting waves of applause before the 300,000 pilgrims in St. Peter's Square. In his homily, read by an aide for the aging pope, the Holy Father called Mother Teresa “one of the most relevant personalities of our age” and “an icon of the Good Samaritan.” Her life, he said, was “a bold proclamation of the gospel.”

"There are many people who talk about the poor, but there are very few who talk to the poor."

For the Ride Home by Ted Bergh

22nd Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

Dt 4:1-2, 6-8
Ps 15:2-3, 3-4, 4-5
Jas 1:17-18, 21-22, 27
Mk 7:1-8, 14-15, 21-23

Scripture

- For what great nation is there that has gods so close to it as the LORD, our God, is to us whenever we call upon him? (Deuteronomy 2:7)
- LORD, who may abide in your tent? Who may dwell on your holy mountain? Whoever walks blamelessly and does justice; who thinks the truth in his heart and slanders not with his tongue. (Psalm 15:1-3)
- Be doers of the word and not hearers only, deluding yourselves. Religion that is pure and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to care for orphans and widows in their affliction and to keep oneself unstained by the world. (James 1:22,27)
- He responded, “Well did Isaiah prophesy about you hypocrites, as it is written: ‘This people honors me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me; In vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines human precepts.’ You disregard God’s commandment but cling to human tradition.” (Mark 7:6-8)

Reflection

- “Who may dwell on (God’s) holy mountain?”
- How close is God “to us whenever we call upon him”?
- Who is a “doer of the word”?
- Does Jesus quote Isaiah to indicate he is more concerned with actions than observing the letter of the law?

It is impossible to pray to a personal God—that is, love a personal God—and remain indifferent to your suffering brethren. It is impossible. Anyone who prays without suffering for his suffering brothers is praying to a pole, a shadow, not to the living God. Because if you pray to the living God, you who are living, he, the Living One, sends you to your living brothers. And sisters.¹
