Pastor's Corner

Rev. Samuel Loterte, SSS

September 13, 2009 | 24th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,
Peace in the Lord Jesus!

For many of us, faith is an inheritance. We were born to Catholic families. This is blessing enough. But today, Jesus is challenging us to go deep to the roots of our faith by making it truly personal. Jesus reveals to us further that if we are to accept him as our Lord, we must accept his way of suffering as our own way of life. Following him involves commitment and determination. Only then can we truly prove ourselves to be his disciples.

May God bless you all and may you have a fruitful and a meaningful week.

In Jesus, our Bread of Life,
Fr. Samuel E. Loterte, SSS

Prayer for the Week

*Living Jesus,
By your word of power
and actions of love, Call
us to be your disciples.
Remind us constantly of
your love for all people.
Send us out in your name
To tell people that you are alive, And to make sure that, In this rich and fertile world, Everyone has access to the food
they need. Amen.*

FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions on Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament

Question: Should priests encourage the faithful to pray before the Blessed Sacrament?

Answer: .

Pope Paul VI urged that the faithful "should not forget about paying a visit during the day to the Most Blessed Sacrament in the very special place of honor where it is reserved in churches in keeping with the liturgical laws, since this is a proof of gratitude and a pledge of love and a display of the adoration that is owed to Christ the Lord who is present there. Pastors should see that churches and public oratories where, according to law, the holy Eucharist is reserved, are open every day at least for some hours, at a convenient time, so that the faithful may easily pray in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament."

Hilo Roman Catholic Community Mission Statement

We, the Hilo Roman Catholic Community of St. Joseph and Malia Puka O Kalani, guided by the Holy Spirit, Our Blessed Mother, and Saint Joseph, gather as a family of believers in the celebration of the Eucharist. Blessed with many cultures, talents, and inspired by the Hawaiian tradition of Aloha, we pledge to share our heritage, our gifts, and the principles of our faith, and to commit ourselves to the educational, social, and spiritual needs of all our brothers and sisters.

Is 50:4-9; Ps 116:1-2, 3-4, 5-6, 8-9; Jas 2:14-18; Mk 8:27-35

In the 1930s, a young writer in New York City was struggling to publish a novel. As World War II broke out in Europe, he looked into his own heart as well as the headlines and produced a soul-searching examination of human violence and war. Unfortunately, his novel remained unpublished for years.

The author? Thomas Merton, the most prominent Catholic author of the twentieth century. His wartime novel, My Argument with the Gestapo, was finally published years after Merton became a Trappist monk and had written many spiritual books.

Merton's insight into war and peace are echoed in today's second reading from the Letter of James. There, the author explores where wars and conflicts originate. He tells us that violence starts from within the human heart. But from God comes the possibility of peace.

Jesus offers us the way to peace in the Gospel today, inviting us to put ourselves last, as servants. Let us "cultivate peace" in our hearts, our communities, our world.

For the Ride Home by Ted Bergh

24th Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

Scripture

- The Lord GOD opens my ear that I may hear; and I have not rebelled, have not turned back. (Isaiah 50:4c,5)
- For he has freed my soul from death, my eyes from tears, my feet from stumbling. (Psalm 116:8)
- What good is it, my brothers and sisters, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can that faith save him? (James 2:14)
- "...For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it." (Mark 8:35)

Reflection

- What is a disciple?
- How do you become a disciple?
- The Church has been described as a "community of disciples." Do you agree?
- What other models of Church are there?

It is evident that discipleship is a wide and flexible concept. For the Church as a whole to practice discipleship in its full range, there must be a variety of gifts and vocations. The Gospels present us with the images of Martha, Mary, Peter, and John, contrasting pairs that have been interpreted by tradition as embodying the ideals of the active and contemplative life. But notwithstanding all this variety, there is a proportionately common element, the norm of which is given in Christ. All are held to self-abnegation, humble service, generosity towards the needy, and patience in adversity.

Societal and Legal Perspectives

"America faces a similar time of trial today. Today, the conflict is between a culture that affirms, cherishes and celebrates the gift of life, and a culture that seeks to declare entire groups of human beings- the unborn, the terminally ill, the handicapped, and others considered "unuseful"- to be outside the boundaries of legal protection." Arrival Speech in St. Louis, Pope John Paul II, Jan 1999

St. Peter Claver

(1581-1654)

A native of Spain, young Jesuit Peter Claver left his homeland forever in 1610 to be a missionary in the colonies of the New World. He sailed into Cartagena (now in Colombia), a rich port city washed by the Caribbean. He was ordained there in 1615.

By this time the slave trade had been established in the Americas for nearly 100 years, and Cartagena was a chief center for it. Ten thousand slaves poured into the port each year after crossing the Atlantic from West Africa under conditions so foul and inhuman that an estimated one-third of the passengers died in transit. Although the practice of slave-trading was condemned by Pope Paul III and later labeled "supreme villainy" by Pius IX, it continued to flourish.

Peter Claver's predecessor, Jesuit Father Alfonso de Sandoval, had devoted himself to the service of the slaves for 40 years before Claver arrived to continue his work, declaring himself "the slave of the Negroes forever."

As soon as a slave ship entered the port, Peter Claver moved into its infested hold to minister to the ill-treated and exhausted passengers. After the slaves were herded out of the ship like chained animals and shut up in nearby yards to be gazed at by the crowds, Claver plunged in among them with medicines, food, bread, brandy, lemons, and tobacco. With the help of interpreters he gave basic instructions and assured his brothers and sisters of their human dignity and God's saving love. During the 40 years of his ministry, Claver instructed and baptized an estimated 300,000 slaves.

His apostolate extended beyond his care for slaves. He became a moral force, indeed, the apostle of Cartagena. He preached in the city square, gave missions to sailors and traders as well as country missions, during which he avoided, when possible, the hospitality of the planters and owners and lodged in the slave quarters instead.

After four years of sickness which forced the saint to remain inactive and largely neglected, he died on September 8, 1654. The city magistrates, who had previously frowned at his solicitude for the black outcasts, ordered that he should be buried at public expense and with great pomp.

He was canonized in 1888, and Pope Leo XIII declared him the worldwide patron of missionary work among black slaves.

Comment: The Holy Spirit's might and power are manifested in the striking decisions and bold actions of Peter Claver. A decision to leave one's homeland never to return reveals a gigantic act of will difficult for us to imagine. Peter's determination to serve forever the most abused, rejected, and lowly of all people is stunningly heroic.

When we measure our lives against such a man's, we become aware of our own barely used potential and of our need to open ourselves more to the jolting power of Jesus' Spirit.

Quote:

Peter Claver understood that concrete service like the distributing of medicine, food, or brandy to his black brothers and sisters could be as effective a communication of the word of God as mere verbal preaching. As Peter Claver often said, "We must speak to them with our hands before we try to speak to them with our lips."

About Seminary

Q What's seminary life like?

A Seminary life is a life of community. It is a unique environment in which men who are thinking about being priests are gathered together to learn and discern more about their vocation. This discernment takes place through study (there are academic classes) Daily Mass and prayer, service (apostolic/volunteer work) and community life. In coming to know more about God, one another, and the priesthood, the seminarians are able to grow more certain in the plan God is calling them to.

Comment:

John's account of Jesus' death is highly symbolic. When Jesus gives the beloved disciple to Mary, we are invited to appreciate Mary's role in the Church: She symbolizes the Church; the beloved disciple represents all believers. As Mary mothered Jesus, she is now mother to all his followers. Furthermore, as Jesus died, he handed over his Spirit. Mary and the Spirit cooperate in begetting new children of God—almost an echo of Luke's account of Jesus' conception. Christians can trust that they will continue to experience the caring presence of Mary and Jesus' Spirit throughout their lives and throughout history.

Quote: "At the cross her station keeping, Stood the mournful mother weeping, Close to Jesus to the last. Through her heart, his sorrow sharing, All his bitter anguish bearing, Now at length the sword has passed."

Our Lady of Sorrows September 15

For a while there were two feasts in honor of the Sorrowful Mother: one going back to the 15th century, the other to the 17th century. For a while both were celebrated by the universal Church: one on the Friday before Palm Sunday, the other in September.

The principal biblical references to Mary's sorrows are in Luke 2:35 and John 19:26-27. The Lucan passage is Simeon's prediction about a sword piercing Mary's soul; the Johannine passage relates Jesus' words to Mary and to the beloved disciple.

Many early Church writers interpret the sword as Mary's sorrows, especially as she saw Jesus die on the cross. Thus, the two passages are brought together as prediction and fulfillment.

St. Ambrose (December 7) in particular sees Mary as a sorrowful yet powerful figure at the cross. Mary stood fearlessly at the cross while others fled. Mary looked on her Son's wounds with pity, but saw in them the salvation of the world. As Jesus hung on the cross, Mary did not fear to be killed but offered herself to her persecutors.

Malia Puka O Kalani Church

My Dear Parishioners,

Let me first thank all the Malia and St. Joe parishioners for storming heaven with your prayers, that through the intercession of Mother Marianne Cope I would be healed. While Mother Marianne is taking her time with a full healing, I certainly feel good and have been receiving very positive reports from my doctors. Returning to Hilo is a gift from God, from the Bishop, and from all of you who have welcomed me home. I pray that my health will remain stable enough so that I can remain with you for a long period of time.

While I am returning as a parochial vicar of our common pastor, Fr. Samuel, the Bishop has told me that my principle responsibility will be “the parish priest” of Malia. Fr. Samuel has asked me to function, for all practical purposes, as the pastor of Malia. We have as our goal to decluster Malia from St. Joe’s. So while I will assist at St. Joe’s as needed, I will mainly be at Malia. This is also in accord with my request of the Bishop. While I dearly loved ministering at both St. Joe’s and Malia when I was here last August through January, the busy schedule contributed to “relapse.” Both the Bishop and Fr. Samuel have been very understanding and accommodating.

During the next few months there will be more services added to the Malia schedule. We will be looking to add some weekday Masses, a Saturday evening Mass, scheduled Reconciliation Services, and other services expected in a full-service parish. We hope and pray that some of the people who had been part of the Malia parish in the past and have left for various reasons will “come home” and again grace us with their participation.

A humorous tid-bit: Before I left New Jersey to come back to Hilo, the local paper did an article on me relocating (they are hard up for news!). The columnist did a phone interview. When I told him I would be ministering at Malia Puka O Kalani he asked me to spell the Hawaiian words and what they meant. The subsequent published article stated that I would be ministering at MERRY Gate of Heaven. He didn’t ask me to spell the English words! (While I hope that we are a joyful community, I prefer to be under the patronage of MARY!)

.....Fr. Joe

Please remember our brothers & sisters who need our help by bringing food donations every week with you to Mass.
