SAFE ENVIRONMENT TIPS FOR PARENTS & ADULTS

Have open discussions with your children

1. Emotionally support your child - always. Kids with a strong sense of self are much less vulnerable to an abuser.
2. Discuss the human body and where it is okay to touch and where it's not ("private parts").
3. Validate the idea that "My Body is My Own" and that no one has a right to touch a child anywhere that makes him or her uncomfortable.
4. Talk about feelings and what makes physical situations good versus bad. Hugs from one's parents can be good and different from sitting on a family friend's lap, which could be weird or funny. (For young children, read-aloud "The Right Touch" by Sandy Kleven, LSCS, Illumination Arts Publishing Company, Inc.)
5. Condition the child that if something happens that makes them uncomfortable they must "SAY NO AND GO" encourage them to get away from the bad person, and then "GO-and-TELL" direct them to find an adult in a position of trust and report

Mission Statement: Centered on the Word of God and the Eucharist we gather as a community of disciples of Jesus Christ as we seek fullness of life. Blessed with many cultures and gifted with the Hawaiian spirit of Aloha we pledge to share our heritage and our faith, and commit ourselves to the full development of our people. With Saint Joseph as our patron we offer our gift of self for the greater glory of God.

Dear brothers and sisters,
Peace!

This Sunday is not only called Passion Sunday. It is also called Palm Sunday. Palms symbolize for we Christians the victory of the Lord. Jesus was welcomed as a victorious King as he entered Jerusalem. But this also is coupled with his passion. His victory is in his passion.

In the account of the passion according to Matthew we find the double victory of Jesus: his total obedience to the will of the Father and his solidarity and communion with us sinners.

This holiest of weeks let us find time to be attentive to the many manifestations of Jesus' victorious death in our lives.

God bless you.

In Jesus, our fullness of Life,

Fr. Samuel E. Loterte, SSS

what happened.

6. Talk to your child daily about school and after-school activities. Listen carefully to his or her descriptions of encounters with adults at school or in programs. Assess the interest that adults show in your child: is it related to their professional concerns (e.g. how he's doing in math) or their personal lives (e.g. personal outings, giving of gifts, etc.)? If you're uncomfortable, talk first to the adult about it. Assess his or her reactions. If still uncomfortable, talk next to the adult's supervisor.

Be very cautious about outings that only involve certain children without other adult chaperones. Should you hear about such activities contact the program supervisor (e.g. pastor, principal, DRE, coach, etc.) at once.
