Weekly Reflection: "Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest."

Do we see and recognize that Jesus and His preaching of the Kingdom of God are so crucial in our life and for the world that we are moved to proclaim it?

The sending of the seventy-two disciples was in lieu of a mission: "The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest." They are called to participate in the mission of Jesus to proclaim the Good News of salvation. What a great privilege. To be worthy of this sacred trust from the Lord, a disciple must give his all depending not on one's own strength and resources but in the grace that God will provide. After all it is Christ's mission and we are only sharing in His mission.

And thus, the first task is to pray – to ask the Lord of the harvest. Then trust that the Lord will nurture the seeds He entrusted to us to sow. And gladly carry out our mission.

Good communication is the key to a love that never ends.

This evening enrichment provides busy couples time to "talk and listen" in meaningful ways.
